U.S. ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS

BUILDING STRONG®

Program Overview

The Special Projects Program (SPP) at Huntsville Center provides the right tools and resources to ensure customers' special requirements are met. This program is an incubator for new programs, as well as a resource within the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers or the Department of Defense for any given task.

This program is available to all Corps Districts and their customers as part of the Corps's "one-door-to-the Corps" policy. The key to the program's success is flexibility, adaptability and a customer-focused approach. SPP has supported major customers such as the Army, Air Force, Navy, Marines and National Guard. Project types and locations vary widely; more recent types include specialized repair/renovation of secure space, range improvement, training courses and foreign military sales engineer capacity development.

Contracts

The Special Projects Program does not have specific MATOCs or SATOCs to support the program. Based on customer requirements, the Special Projects Program researches and leverages existing contracts that fit the need or develop contracts based on those unique customer conditions. Our innovative team is an ideal resource for procurement and execution of atypical requirements.

Benefits

The SPP works with program, financial, contracting and legal counsel to ensure requirements are met on time, within budget, and at reduced risk, resulting in best value solutions. We provide the services and the level of support needed for each requirement from our available capabilities that include:

- Requirements Analysis
- Market Research
- Acquisition Planning and Acquisition Strategy Development
- Development of all acquisition documentation
- Contract and/or Task Order administration
- Project Management/COR
- Management of Project Schedule and Deliverables
- Vendor Performance and Dispute Resolution
- Management of Award Fee Evaluation Boards
- Funds Management
- Legal Support
- Contract Close-out

History

The Special Projects Program was founded in 2012 when several project requirements arose that did not fit within any of our existing Huntsville Center programs. Those disparate requirements were best suited for an inclusive program that quantified their individuality. Unique customer requirements became projects, which were later consolidated into a Huntsville Center Special Projects Program. An example of this would be the Facilities Technology Integration Division, which started with one unique project born out of the Special Projects Program.

Best Practices

We strive to find the right resources to meet unique needs of customers and teams to support them.
